A Buyer's Guide to Speakers & Home Theatre

Choosing speakers is the most personal decision that you'll have to make when putting together a stereo or a home theatre system. Depending on your space, listening preferences and budget, you should begin by choosing the type of speakers that will work best for you. Speakers can be divided into five basic categories: conventional "full-size" speakers, satellite/subwoofer packages, on-wall and in-wall speakers as well as panel speakers. 10 years ago, Canadian manufacturers had an enviable reputation for top quality loudspeakers. Now only one or two remain who still manufacture in Canada and pride themselves on old-fashioned quality and service, unlike the typical "fend for yourself" sales technique and poorly made, disposable products of today.
